

Welcome to my journal a window into the world of being an illustrator and author. So if you hate to write and draw or the opposite you want my job. This journal is about the possible. My goal is to help you defeat the dream crushers.

The illustrations are $2\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ " and may be used as artist trading cards.

I have arranged the pages so you can print and cut them up. Then use the pieces to create your own projects. My experience has been give potential artists and authors starting points and they will find new and amazing directions. So have fun and share.
